DES MOINES, Iowa -- More teenagers in Central Iowa are saying they will never drink and drive again after experiencing a state-of-the-art simulator.

Des Moines Area Community College is offering what students called the most realistic, sophisticated drunken-driving simulator they've seen. The simulator puts students behind the wheel and then slowly makes the driving game tougher in a way that mimics drunken driving

The simulator will move to the DMAACC campus in Ankeny on Friday as part of the Save a Life Tour, which stops at high schools, colleges and military bases across the country.
